Money Cannot Buy It

For Sight is Priceless!

THE DIAMOND GLASSES,

Manufactured by J. E. SPENCER & CO., New York, which are now offered to the public, are pronounced by all the celebrated Opticians of the World to be the MOST PERFECT, Natural, Artificial help to the human eye ever known.

They are ground under their own supervision, from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name, "Diamond," on account of their hardness and brilliancy.

The Scientific Principle on which they are constructed brings the core or centre of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision, as in the natural healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant sensations, such as glimmering and wavering of sight, dizziness, &c., peculiar to all others in use.

They are mounted in the finest manner, in frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose. Their finish and durability cannot be surpassed.

CAUTION.—None genuine unless bearing their trade mark ◇ stamped on every frame.

JENNIE LIND AND THE HOOSIER.—The following anecdote of the great songstress is related by Miss Logan in "Before the Footlights and Behind the Scenes:"—

A lady in whom I have the fullest confidence relates, as an actual fact, the story of Jennie Lind and the Hoosier. She tells me that during her march of triumph through this country, and after her visit to Cincinnati, where she captivated all hearts, Jennie Lind found herself one evening in the (then) small town of Madison, Indiana, when Mr. Barnum had made an arrangement with the captain of the small steamer which plies between Cincinnati and Louisville, to have the boat lie by on the Indiana shore long enough for the divine Jennie to give a concert at Madison.

The largest building in the town having been prepared for her reception, an auction of tickets took place in the hall on the morning of her arrival. The capacity of the building was fully attested by the anxious Madisonites!

"Coming through the Rye" was given first. This was followed by "Home, Sweet Home," and who can describe the marvellous effect of that song, as rendered by Jennie Lind. The famous "Bird Song" was then the popular air of the country, and it was given as the concluding piece of the evening in question. The last line of the song ran thus: "I know not, I know not why I am singing," and Jennie gave it with her full power. At this moment a genuine Hoosier, indigenous to the soil, rose up in the auditorium, and thus delivered himself:

"You don't know why you are singing, eh? Gosh! I know if you don't! You're singing to the tune of five dollars a head and I reckon dad's hogs will have to suffer for my ticket!"

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington under the Act of 1837.

No. 76 State Street, opposite Kilby Street Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or Inventions and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me [thirteen applications], in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

THE CENSUS OF 1870

Partial returns from the census takers in many of the States are finding their way into the newspapers. The work has so far progressed that in a month or two the rough materials from every hole and corner of the nation will be in the hands of the compilers at Washington. Meantime, says the N. Y. Herald, it appears that the local estimates of the population of every one of our large cities, and of many of the second and third class, have been much too large. New York will fall short of a million souls, Chicago, boasting a population of four hundred thousand, is cut down to three hundred thousand, and so on to the end of the chapter on cities. The aggregate population of the United States, by the census superintendent, is estimated at forty millions from the returns received. The cities and large towns of New England generally show an increase, but those States, in their aggregate population, appear to have gained little or nothing since 1860, the gains in their cities being offset by losses in their rural districts. Even the State of New York, above Westchester and off from the Hudson river and our great railways, will not show much advancement. The ratio of increase in population will doubtless be better in Pennsylvania. All the East, however, has suffered by drainage to the West, and from Ohio (a comparatively light increase in Ohio) the increase in people goes swelling till it culminates in Minnesota. The great Southwestern State of Texas, however, will probably show an increase since 1860 in actual numbers hardly excelled by Minnesota. California will not show anything like the increase for this decade of that from 1850 to 1860. The rush there is over.

We have nothing yet from the census marshals to indicate the growth or decline of the States and cities of the South in population, white and black. If there is some truth, as we suppose there is, in the numerous reports made from time to time of the rapid decay of the Southern blacks since their emancipation, the census will exhibit a decline in the black element. How much? is the important question to be determined. We think the returns of the white population of the South in the lump, under all the circumstances of Southern prostration resulting from the war, will, since 1860, show an astonishing increase, and that Kentucky, one of the richest of those States and most convenient to our great marts of trade and channels of emigration, will appear farther behind than any other state except South Carolina. Looking to the past and to the future, politically, socially and commercially, the full returns of the census of 1870, reduced to an intelligible compilation by intelligent minds, will be the most interesting and valuable book ever published in the United States.

In his address to the merchants at the Shoe and Leather Exchange in Boston on Saturday Secretary Boutwell referred to three leading topics of national interest. First, the revival of American commerce, whose decline he attributed largely to the substitution of iron for wooden vessels, in which England enjoyed an immense advantage in point of cost. The second topic, that of the reduction of the national debt, was treated in accordance with his well known views. He advocated paying off at least fifty millions per year until U S bonds reach par in coin, which he thinks can be done after one year even with the reduced system of taxation. He still favors a speedy reduction of the principal, rather than a gradual extinction of the debt, on the ground of the pernicious influence of a large public indebtedness upon the business and people of the country.

His third topic was the refunding of the debt at a lower rate of interest, and he expressed confidence in our ability to accomplish a large reduction in our interest account, notwithstanding the financial disturbances in Europe caused by the war. But in order to fund the debt at a low rate he deemed it indispensable to continue to strengthen the public credit by the collection of liberal revenues.

The Secretary has consistently maintained these views since his accession to office, but the large reduction of taxes effected at the late session in deference to the popular demand, indicate that both Congress and people are in favor of so distributing the burdens that posterity may contribute some share of the cost of those advantages which have been purchased for them at such a heavy sacrifice.

The printing of all the papers in the State Department, bearing upon the Alabama claims, called for by a resolution of the Senate last winter, has just been completed. They make five volumes of 750 pages each, beginning with the correspondence between Mr Black and Minister Dallas in 1861, when the recognition of belligerency was declared in Paris, and run through all the diplomatic discussions of neutrality, rebels in Canada, rebel cruisers, and kindred subjects, until the matter of the Alabama claims proper is reached on page 2000. The fourth and fifth volumes are in fine type, and are principally reprints of official reports and speeches in Parliament upon various subjects connected with the American war.

THE CUBAN WAR. Gen. W. A. C. Ryan with Aide de Camp Col. L. C. Bailey, arrived at Key West on the 10th inst. from Cuba, 6th, and left for New York. He addressed a public meeting of Cubans, stating that he was entrusted with a very important commission, and he hoped to be in Cuba again in less than 35 days. He was anxious to get back, and said that the war was continued with unabated fury, and of late had been very severe indeed, and that the Spaniards had been defeated twenty-three times during July. He mentioned instances where he had attacked 450 Puerto Principe soldiers with 40 picked men and 10 officers, and in one hour 80 of the enemy were killed, and the Spaniards reported 123 wounded. He says the Spaniards are constantly murdering Cuban women and children.

Francisco Carapradez, an eminent Spanish poet, died in Havana, Tuesday.

THE FUNERAL OF ADMIRAL FARRAGUT

The funeral of the late Admiral Farragut took place in Portsmouth, N. H., yesterday. It was attended by a larger concourse of people than ever before assembled in the State on a similar occasion, and the day will long be remembered in the history of Portsmouth. The occasion of the burial of the remains of the chief officer of the Navy of the United States was one not soon to be forgotten. The weather was clear and cool. At an early hour the people began to come in from the surrounding country, on the arrival of trains from the east and west and the throng was so great as almost to render the streets impassable. Owing to the late arrival of trains from Boston, which brought large numbers of distinguished officers of the navy and army as well as men of the State in civil life, the cortege did not leave the navy yard until past 1 o'clock.

The funeral cortege left the residence of Com. Pennock, escorted by the marine corps of this naval station and Charleston, and a detachment of U S troops, and was brought to the navy yard landing in this city by the U. S. steamer Speedwell. Here they were joined by the Head guards of Manchester.

The remains were enclosed in an elegant metallic coffin, heavily laden with flowers. The coffin was borne upon a bier from the steamer by ten seamen from the U S receiving ship Vandalia, and placed in a hearse which took its place in the procession. On either side walked the pall bearers, twelve in number, all of them distinguished officers in the army and navy. The following is a list of their names: Rear Admiral Thatcher, Commodore Steadman, C[illegible] o Badger, Captain Parrott, Captain [illegible] ommander Patton, of the Franklin, P[illegible] Watson, Surgeon of the Vandalia, [illegible] Engineer Moor, Colonel McCauley, [illegible] der of the Marine corps at Boston, G[illegible] M[illegible] lowell and Gen Foster. Then came [illegible] ting Clergyman and Surgeons, follow[illegible] he remains of the honored dead, an[illegible] ble line of carriages containing the [illegible] Mrs. Farragut and her son, Ex-Se[illegible] Wells, Ex-Secretary Fox, Senators [illegible] Patterson and Wilson, General Bank[illegible] ny dignitaries. Following these c[illegible] procession nearly a mile in length, cor[illegible] f seamen of the U S Navy and Arm[illegible] s, the Society of M O L L, U S. [illegible] Army of the Navy of the Gulf, Army of [illegible] blic, I[illegible] Department, Odd Fellows [illegible] Masons of Portsmouth, members of [illegible] Governments Collector of Port, a[illegible] s of Customs of Portsmouth and [illegible] State officers of New Hampshire a[illegible] ntes, foreign officers, U S Senators [illegible] members of Congress, Ex-Senators and m[illegible] with Ex-Governors of several Stat[illegible] tizens on foot and in carriages.

So imposing a display [illegible] r seen in Portsmouth. So much [illegible] onsume in organizing the long line [illegible] as nearly half past one, before the [illegible] e procession reached the church.

A dense crowd of people [illegible] t and in carriages filled all the str[illegible] the line of procession. All the pub[illegible] ngs were handsomely draped, as well [illegible] est of the places of business and m[illegible] ate residences. During the hour [illegible] was consumed forming the process[illegible] marching to church, all the bells in the [illegible] re, tolled and minute guns fired fro[illegible] Navy Yard and Government ships in [illegible] oor. All business was suspended th[illegible] the city and Government buildings were closed. St John's Episcopal Church, where the funeral services were held, was draped in very appropriate manner. There were festoons on the sides and from the ceiling. The desk and railings were trimmed with flowers and lined with festoons fastened with bouquets. The baptismal font held a pyramid of flowers, and was festooned with wreaths and drapery. On the door was a wreath and anchor. The communion table held a beautiful cross three feet high, on either side of which was a large bouquet. The religious exercises at the church were the simple, yet impressive ceremonies of the Episcopal service. They were conducted by Rev R W Clark, resident minister, assisted by Rev Dr Montgomery of New York, who was the Admiral's pastor and an intimate friend of the family. The singing was by a quartette of gentlemen. After the close of the burial service, which was read in an impressive manner by Dr Montgomery, the quartette sang the beautiful hymn, "Jesus savior of my soul." The Rev Doctor then made a brief address to the mourners and congregation. The services were then concluded by Rev Mr Clark, after which an opportunity was given to those who wished to take a last look at the earthly remains of the honored dead. The want of time prevented those present from availing themselves of the privilege. There was an immense crowd outside, who were unable to get even within hearing distance of the building, but who patiently awaited the moment when the remains were brought forth and placed in the tomb, which opens from the street, just north of the Church. The usual rites of the Episcopal service were observed, when the masonic honors were paid and three volleys were fired by the military escort, and the earthly remains of Admiral Farragut were laid away to await the orders of the U S Government.

WAR NOTES

Gen McMahon has issued an order of the day to his soldiers, in which he commends the heroism displayed by them at the Battle of Froschweiller, where he says his army of 35,000 were overwhelmed by 140,000 of the enemy. He estimates the loss of the enemy as much greater than that of his own, and assures his soldiers that the Emperor and the country recognize their valor. He concludes by calling on the first corps to close up its ranks, and, God aiding it, seize a great and brilliant revenge.—After the battle of Forbach Prince Charles advanced to St Avold and the army of the Prince Royal moved via Saverne to Nancy, and while thus moving toward Paris, Prince Charles by a bold move endeavored to turn the French position at Metz, thus cutting off communication between McMahon and Bazaine. To avoid this Bazaine left Metz, moving toward Verdun and Chalons, but before reaching Longueville, the corps of Gen. L'Admirault and De Caen encountered the army of Prince Charles, and thus opened the battle on Sunday which has been continued since.—More arrests have been made of the rioters in Paris.—Edmund About has been heard from and will soon return to Paris.—The Moniteur says everything is progressing well. That all the French fortified towns hold out, and the national defence has but just commenced. The battle near Metz it calls the first act in the new drama, and predicts that the Prussian enthusiasm will soon give way to discouragement and exhaustion.—The Constitutionel declares that the purpose of Prussia is the spoliation of French territory, and warns the enemy that every Frenchman, from 16 to 60, will rush to arms to repel them.—Gen Proclear, commanding the Zouaves of McMahon's corps, writing from Saverne, gives a thrilling description of the slaughter of his gallant troops. He states that out of 65 officers engaged, at Woerth, 47 were killed, wounded or missing. Two Chiefs of Battalion were shot dead and a third either killed or taken prisoner. Gen. St. Saverne was wounded through the chest, and another General shot dead. Only five captains were left him out of thirty, the rest having been killed in battle, and all his adjutants and nearly all his sergeants shared the same fate. Gen. Chloon was killed, and Alfred, brother of the Duke de Grammont, lost an arm. He says the other corps suffered almost as severely, and that although McMahon behaved splendidly, he was unable with his force to cope with more than 100,000 of the enemy. He asserts that the Prussian loss was very heavy, preventing a vigorous pursuit, and that their retreat was made in a pouring rain, through which they marched all night without sleep or rest.—Mazzini's arrest is denied, and it is thought that the Republican outbreaks in Italy will result in serious trouble.—The Berlin papers say that King William will proclaim peace immediately on entering Paris on condition of the abdication of Napoleon and the payment by France of the costs of the war.

BURGLARY AND MURDER. The store of D M & E G Hulbert, in Hampton, Mass, was entered at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, by three burglars. The noise awoke two clerks who habitually slept in the store, and who attacked the burglars, beating one of them very severely and capturing him, while the others made their escape. But while the clerks were preparing to secure their captive, his companions returned to rescue him, and shot one of the clerks, Frederick A. Merricks, through the head, killing him instantly. The clerk had a revolver but it missed fire. The burglars fired five shots altogether, and evidently supposed they had killed both, but the survivor, Gilbert Burrows, was only slightly wounded. Rewards are offered for the capture of the burglars, as follows. By the city, $2,500; by the county, $2,500; by Messrs Hulbert, $1,000.

GAMBLING IN THE ARMY. The War Department has issued an order that if any officer shall bet at cards or any game of hazard his commanding officer shall suspend his functions and require him to turn over all public funds in his keeping, and shall immediately report the case, to the proper Bureau of the War Department. The order adds—"In every case where an officer who is entrusted with the care or disbursement of the public funds shall violate this regulation, he will be brought to trial before a general court martial by the Department Commander, and will not be assigned to duty or again put in possession of public funds subsequent to his trial without approval of the Secretary of War."

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL

Sylvester Morny is stumping Arizona territory against McCormick.

The National Executive Committee of the Union League of America, will meet in Philadelphia next Monday. The session is expected to be the most important of any yet held and members from the South and West are arriving daily to participate.

Henry Ward Beecher delivered the discourse yesterday at the funeral of Grenville T Jenks, the Brooklyn lawyer, who died suddenly at Saratoga, and General Slocum, Judges Van Cott, Birdley and McCue were among the pall bearers. At a meeting of the New York bar on Tuesday, Judge Barnard, W O. Bartlett and A J Vanderpoel delivered eulogies upon the deceased.

—A fire broke out Tuesday morning in the three-story brick building on the corner of Main and Water streets, Camden. The fire was put out before it made much headway, but considerably damaged the stock of jewelry of Charles K Miller, recently moved here from Lewiston. Insured $1400 says the Lewiston Journal.

Maine Classical School.
A delegation from the locating committee of the proposed Maine Classical School have visited several places from which offers for the location of the School have been received, and have examined the buildings and grounds which have been offered. The decision in regard to the location will be deferred until the 1st of October, to give opportunity for individuals and communities to make further proposals. The Committee feel that the duty imposed on them is an important one, and as the matter now stands, an exceedingly delicate one. They will in the hope that such an offer will come to them from some place where the people are awake to the importance of having the School located in their vicinity, as will make the location an easy one.
All communications addressed to the undersigned at Bangor, will receive attention.

THE NEW FRENCH BASE OF OPERATIONS.

ADVICES FROM PARIS.

Paris 17—6 a. m. The Journal Official has just appeared, but has nothing of a great battle. The Gaulois, however, states that important and satisfactory dispatches were received here yesterday.

Marshal Bazaine insists upon secrecy being observed so far as his movements are concerned.

THE PRUSSIANS REQUESTING AN ARMISTICE.

It is reported, that Prince Frederick Charles has sent a flag of truce demanding an armistice in order to bury his dead, which was refused by the French commander.

HEAVY FIGHTING SINCE SATURDAY.

There is no doubt that hard fighting has been going on since Saturday last, the French being engaged in six great strategetic movements, involving a series of engagements, as operations are carried on in a place where communication is difficult.

The telegraph wires having been cut, news necessarily comes forward slowly. This city is greatly agitated. All night long great crowds surrounded the Ministry of the Interior, and other places where news is posted. Many rumors are circulating, but without official advices they lack confirmation.

A SORTIE FROM STRASBURG.

Last evening the garrison at Strasburg made a sortie, but were driven back with heavy loss. They also lost three guns.

THE EMPRESS PREPARING TO LEAVE.

The rumor that the Empress Eugenie has gone to the Belgian government for permission to march her army through on her way to England is confirmed.

TONE OF THE FRENCH PRESS.

Paris, 17—The Constitutional this morning says that the brave Generals now risking their lives in defence of their country cannot think that engaged know all the results in...ed. Besides it would be inconsiderate to ...ge partial details, which might prove to be ...reasured. The Government will be faithful to its promise, and will communicate immediately if that is ascertained. Other Paris journals have articles similar in tone.

CHARGEBON'S MILITARY INTERFERENCE.

London, 17—The growing unpopularity of the Emperor at Paris is altogether due to his interference with the army instead of leaving it to the command of military experts.

The Post says the telegraph wires have been cut in the rear of the Prussians. The French are sparing of news at present. The fighting seems to be good for a week without decisive result.

THE FRENCH FIGHTING STUBBORNLY.

The French are ready to fight till the end. Paris thus far is unadvised of any reverses.—If the Prussians approach Paris a revolution is probable.

The Times says the Emperor now knows how grossly he has been misled as to his war establishment, and how the public money has been squandered. He can also see how he has been misguided as to the anti-Prussian feeling in Hanover, Bavaria, Saxony &c. . .

IMPERIAL PROPERTY SENT TO MADRID.

It is said that boxes containing Napoleon's private property are arriving at Madrid, and similar stories are telegraphed here from various points in Belgium.

THE FRENCH DEFEAT.

London, Aug 17—Morning. The advance of the Prussians continues almost without any serious interruption. At Metz the French army received a coup de grace and has fallen back upon Verdun in a demoralized and shattered condition. The defeat has been most disastrous. Even individual soldiers are rendered desperate by the agony of the situation, and announce in unmeasured terms the incompetency of their Generals. The Emperor is believed to be the actual commander of the army.

A FRENCH STATEMENT.

New York, Aug. 17. A telegram to the Courier des Etats this morning states that the battles of Sunday and Monday were both fought between Metz and Verdun, and that the Prussians sustained so severe a reverse that they were obliged to halt. He adds:—"This check will enable Gen. Trochu to reorganize the new army, at Chalons, numbering two hundred thousand."

Paris authorities do not confirm this news.

MORE SECRET TREATIES.

Berlin, Aug. 17. Another Prussian note, divulging certain additional secret negotiations of France, is published to-day.

INTERVENTION ANTICIPATED.

London, Aug. 17. The Times says the French army has received its finishing stroke at Metz. A decisive battle will be fought at Chalons, after which English intervention will take place.

Florence, Aug. 17. The Italian Government has increased her army. An extraordinary loan for war purposes has been negotiated.

FRENCH TROOPS WITHOUT FOOD.

London, Aug. 17. The correspondents of the evening papers London papers confirm the reports previously published, that the French army entered the last conflict in a starving condition.

THE NEW BASE.

London, 17—Advices from Paris state that the Emperor is actively organizing large forces at Chalons. The main body of the French army is concentrated at Etain, about 12 miles east northeast of Verdun and 70 kilometres from Chalons.

The troops now in Algeria are not to be recalled. The Gardes de Paris are demanding to be led into active service.

The Russian press is alarmed at the conquests of the Prussians.

The new Prussian loan is unsuccessful at Hamburg.

The Archbishop of Paris has surrendered all the Diocesan schools and other institutions under his charge to the French authorities for hospital use. Over 300 beds have already been set up in these places.

A MEAGRE OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

Paris, 17—The following official news has just been bulletined at the Ministry of War in this city—

The Department of War has just received news from the army, which continues to carry out the movement combined after the brilliant combat of Sunday night. Two divisions of the enemy sought to intercept the French march and were repulsed. The Emperor has arrived at Chalons, where he is organizing a large force.

NOTIFICATION OF THE BLOCKADE OF THE COAST OF GREAT AND FRENCH STATES.

Paris, Aug. 17. The Journal Officiel published this morning the following notification of the blockade of the coast of the German Prussian States—

The undersigned, Vice-Admiral and Commander-in-Chief of the Naval forces of the Empire of France in the North Sea, charged with the duty of protecting France and her allies as well as the States of the North German Confederation, in virtue of the powers vested in him by decree dated the 1st August, 1870, the coasts of Prussia, the North German Confederation, extending from the island of Harlum to the North of Heligoland with all the ports, harbors, rivers, roads, &c., in a state of effective blockade. Ships of war of neutral powers will be allowed to enter, in which to unload, loading and quitting the blockaded ports. Precautions will be adopted against all vessels which shall attempt to break through said blockade, according to the law of nations and treaties now in force between neutral powers.

Given on board the French Emperor's steamer Maguinnis, stationed between the island of Heligoland and the Prussian coast, this 12th day of August, 1870.

(Signed) FOURICHON,

Vice-Admiral, Commander-in-Chief.

Paris, Aug. 17—Evening. The blockade of our ports having been established, it is permitted by the Russian Government to pass merchandise, duty free, through the ports of Riga. The mayor of the town is required to be shown on bills of lading.

Paris, 17. The following official dispatch has been made public:

Metz, Aug. 17—p. m. We had a severe engagement yesterday, the 16th, near Gravelotte. We gained the advantage but lost heavily.

Note—Gravelotte is a small village nine miles southwest of Metz and two miles west of Moselle.

London, 17. The Paris journals continue their inability to explain the course of the recent military events, in consequence of the confusion of date and lack of authentic advices.

Three nephews of the King of Sweden have joined the French army. Count de Chambord, Countess Montchenbert, and other French legitimists, have lent their estates to the military authorities for hospital purposes.

Paris gossip has that Le Boeuf is wounded a Prussian, and that the General is confined in the prison of Ver...nes.

The steamer Hecwell, while on her passage from Hamburg for Sunderland was run down by a French frigate near the Elbe. She paid no attention and kept her course, when the Frenchman gave chase and fired a shot, which induced her to show the English colors and heave to. She was then boarded by the French officers, who after examining her papers, left her to proceed.

The French Government has issued a notification that all peaceably disposed natives of Germany desiring to remain in France, may do so on the condition of taking out a permit of residence.

Saarbruck, 17—The King of Prussia, King William has appointed Gen. Baron Govern...r General of Lorraine, and Gen. Boulan Governor General of Alsace.

London, 17. A dispatch from Carlsruhe, the headquarters of the Baden army, dated the 16th, says the people and garrison of Strasbourg have labored with zeal to arm the ramparts, clear the glacis and barricade the entrances, but the besiegers have destroyed much of their work. On the 13th a slight conflict took place between a detachment of Baden troops. They set the town on fire, and while it was standing in the heat on, and open their batteries approached within pistol shot of the fortress. They also fired in the ramparts. The Baden troops lost 3 killed and 17 wounded.

London, Aug. 17. The steamer Scotland, belonging to the Tyne Steamship Company, arrived in Tyne with a general cargo from German ports. This is the fourth ship taken by the steamers of this line since the war has been declared. The Scotland Saturday passed the French fleet which was blockading the Elbe, without molestation. She however, dipped the Dutch ensign, to which the French fleet replied, by hoisting and dipping the French ensign.

The French blockading squadron consists of 10 large iron-clads, nine of which are anchored now south east of Heligoland, and one paddle-wheel steamer is cruising in the north. The new of their approach was taken to Hamburg on Friday afternoon by a Norwegian vessel. The Norwegian authorities at once ordered all lighters loaded with torpedoes, which had been prepared in readiness to go down the river to Cuxhaven to the Swedish orders. They also dispatched the two fast steamers Cuxhaven and Helgoland to the mouth of the Elbe to reconnoitre.

GEN. SHERIDAN GRANTED PERMISSION TO FOLLOW THE PRUSSIAN ARMY.

Frankfort, Aug. 17. General Sheridan with Consul-General Wesselhoeft, has, through the good offices of Minister Bancroft, been cheerfully accorded permission by the military authorities, to follow the campaign with headquarters with the King.

NEW YORK ITEMS.

New York, Aug. 17

Five hundred and twenty of the expelled and delinquent members of the National Stock Exchange today held a meeting at Chickering Hall for the ostensible purpose of resolving to wind up the affairs of the society, alleging that the remaining 900 members were endeavoring to sell the lease of the building and illegally divide the proceeds. The delinquents declare they have no intention of dissolution or division, but only propose to seek a less expensive location.

The Brooklyn Union this morning alleges that Judge McCunn on his recent departure for Ireland left a heavy defalcation behind him, which will be likely to prevent his return to this country. The amount which he carried off is said to have been considerable, and has been invested in real estate in Ireland. The Judge's property in this city is being quietly disposed of.

At William Beaty's distillery in Brooklyn, $12,000 worth of whiskey was seized yesterday by revenue officers, and three others detected in illicit business were recently seized.

Steamship India, of the Anchor line, from Glasgow Aug. 6th for New York, put back to Greenock on the 13th inst. on account of an accident to her machinery. She will depart on the 20th with her usual cargo; her passengers have already been forwarded on the Caledonia and Hibernia.

Gardiner G. Hubbard of Boston sailed for Liverpool to-day.

Counterfeit $20 on the Shoe and Leather Bank of this city are plenty in this city and Brooklyn.

The American barque Exile, from New York for Galveston, Indianola, was struck by lightning on the 24th, at Berry Islands, Bahamas; vessel and cargo total loss—crew saved and landed at Nassau.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

PORTLAND, Aug. 17.

In the Republican County Convention a resolution was adopted declaring Governor Joshua L. Chamberlain the choice of the Convention for U. S. Senator, to be chosen by the next Legislature.

A two story wooden dwelling on Neal street, owned and occupied by Alexander P. Haskell, was destroyed by fire this afternoon. The adjacent buildings were somewhat injured by fire and water. Partial insurance in each case of loss.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.

The Secretary of the Navy has ordered Admiral Gibson to send a vessel of war up the Rhine and Weser rivers and along the North German coast to protect American citizens if necessary.

Ex-Governor McCormick left for Arizona to-day.

A neutrality proclamation has been prepared and submitted to President Grant.

Official information has been received here denying that the French government had ordered the general removal of Prussians from Paris. It was, however, reported perhaps one hundred and fifty Prussians to leave that city for the reason they who laied the privilege of their domicile by unfriendly demonstrations against the French. The French and German legations receive very little information concerning the war, by telegraph.

BRAZILIAN AFFAIRS.

London, Aug. 17. The latest advices from Rio Janeiro state that peace with Paraguay has been formally proclaimed.

The Brazilian Government has made extensive contracts for the importation of Coolies for ten years.

THE TURF.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 17.

Lucy beat George Wilkes in three straight heats on the Glen Mitchell Park to-day. Time, 2.20—2.27½—2.27½.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS

—The Portland Dirigo Base Ball club will play a match game this afternoon for a purse hat.

—We learn that the completion of the E. & N. A. Railway, which has been set for November, 71, is now talked of as September.

—A fine black horse, purchased by the Eastern Express Co. in Houlton, was taken through this city on Sunday to Boston.

—The Allechanians, Vocalists and Bell-Ringers, will give two of their select entertainments in Norombega Hall on Friday and Saturday evenings.

—The prospect is that the coming session of the Penobscot Musical Association will be one of the most successful ever held in this city.

—Moose hides in considerable quantities are being shipped from "up country" to Boston, where they are manufactured into moccasins, &c. The raw hides bring about $12 each.

—The Penobscot County Republican Convention for the nomination of three candidates for Senators, and candidates for county officers, will be held in City Hall, at 10 o'clock this forenoon. There is a prospect of a large convention.

The horse which was stolen from Mr. Cole's pasture in Winterport, was found turned loose in Athens, the thief probably being deterred from riding him further by hand-bills which Mr. Wilkins caused to be posted in that and adjoining towns.

—The Black Otter and North End Base Ball clubs played five innings of a match game yesterday afternoon, but the ball giving out, the latter club declined to play the game out. The score stood B. O. 9, N. E. 4. Capt. Haggerty of the Black Otters expresses his willingness to play with any club in Bangor.

—The front of Dale's Block is nearly completed, and the carpenters are now busy putting up the fourth story. The front is constructed of a pink-colored granite, with white granite trimmings, and presents a very handsome appearance.—The city should be proud of the new business block constructed this year.

—We are informed that extensive preparations are in progress for the reunion and exercises of the survivors of the First Maine Heavy Artillery, on Tuesday next. The advertisement in another column gives full particulars, and we need only say that a "grand good time" is expected on hand, no doubt, be enjoyed.

Court opened. Captain Herman Bartlett informed us that the Portland steamer, City of Richmond, in her trip down river yesterday morning, came in collision with schooners Diadem of Belfast and Elizabeth of Pembroke in Buckspoint Narrows, the weather being thick at the time. The Diadem was cut down so that the hull and was towed upon the flat to stay her. The Elizabeth lost her bowsprit, and the City of Richmond had her wheel-house badly stove.

—We learn that a Musical Convention will be held in Foxcroft Hall, Houlton, four days, commencing on Tuesday next. The convention will be under the direction of Mr. L. A. Torrens of Bangor. Miss Lizzie Taylor, Soprano, of Boston, will be present, and Mrs. Sara E. Wescott, of this city will preside at the piano during the session. Quite a number of Bangor people will visit the convention, we understand.

—Two active lads drew quite a crowd to see their aquatic performances in the stream opposite the Custom House, yesterday afternoon. They consulted Frank Thorne, in the height of their leaps into the water, one of them jumping from a window of the Whig & Courier composing room, a distance of some twenty feet to the stream.

STOLEN HORSES RECOVERED. A few days since, a horse belonging to Mr. John F. Gregg was stolen by parties unknown. The matter was put into detective Walker's hands, and yesterday the animal was found by him attached to a blueberry team on West Market Square. Elbridge Giles, who it was discovered stole the horse, was arrested by Mr. Walker, in Dixmont, and in the acquaintance of Judge Clark yesterday, as our Police Court record shows.

A RELIC. Mr. H. R. Cundy of this city exhibited at this office yesterday, a stone plummet like that lately found in Saco and described in our columns a few days since. It was found about 2½ feet below the surface of the ground in Passadumkeag, on the banks of the Passadumkeag stream, by workmen who were excavating on the line of the E. & N. A. Railway. At the same place were excavated two other similar plummets, a knife, a gouge, a number of arrow-heads and a hatchet, all of which scattered around a small pile of ashes and charcoal. They were undoubtedly the implements of an Indian workman in long ayne.

ANOTHER SWINDLE. Circulars signed "Adam Smith, Painter and Stationer, 210 Broadway, N. Y." are being sent about the country, in which counterfeit greenbacks are offered at the rate of ten cents on a dollar.—The sender is careful to request "customers" to keep the order secret, and says:—"Make remittances by Express only; as the officers of the Post Office here rob the correspondence upon this business, and refuse to deliver the same." Remit by express, freight charges paid. Letters by mail do not reach me." Of course if people are fools enough to send money in this the last they ever hear of it. They cannot complain to the officers of the law, for they must of necessity acknowledge that they intended to procure and pass counterfeit money, and the swindler is safe on that point. It is said, however, that scoundrels are making a large business by this circular business.

—A dead body, supposed to be that of Hollins drowned in the disaster in Portland harbor, June 27th, was found on Ram Island, Monday; so says the Portland Advertiser.

—The Bath Times learns that Mr. James Peters, who was so severely injured by the cars at Brunswick, and whose recovery was considered doubtful, is now rapidly recovering.

—The venerable Judge Luther Fitch of Portland, died Sunday, aged 87 years.

—There were fifty deaths in Portland, in July.

—The fall term of the Eastern Normal School will begin the 24th of this month.

—The August term of the Supreme Judicial Court for Sagadahoc County, commenced its session in Bath, on Tuesday, Judge Barrows presiding.

—Aaron Storer, wife and their two young children were thrown from a carriage in the town of Mexico, on the 7th, instant, and badly injured, Mrs. Storer having a collar bone broken.

—The Lewiston Journal understands that Hon. E. B. Dunn of Waterville, has lately given to the Maine Wesleyan Seminary at Kent's Hill $10,000 in the new Maine Central Railroad bonds,—to be used if needed, for Normal purposes. The Journal says this is a noble and timely gift—one that does credit to the head and heart of Mr. Dunn; and which will prove of lasting benefit to this popular school and to the cause of education.

YACHT RACE. The yachts comprising the Portland Yacht Club, started at 11.25, Wednesday afternoon, on their annual regatta and race for the silver cup. The following is the time as given by the Judges: First class, distance 30 miles, Ray, 6 hours, 55 minutes; Ethel, 4 hours, 11 minutes, 45 seconds; Second class, distance 30 miles, Spy, 4 hours, 22 minutes; Kate, 4 hours, 37 minutes; Third class, distance 20 miles, Whisper, 3 hours, 38 minutes; Mayflower, 4 hours, 30 minutes.

—The buildings at Knightville, Capt. Elizabeth, now owned by George R. Davis, were burned Tuesday night. The house and stable were insured for $1000, and the store and adjoining buildings, for $700. Joseph Seavey had $15 0 insurance on stock in the store.

—Lewiston has been the scene of a good many drunken rows lately, according to the Journal's graphic police reports, which for the past week have averaged about a column daily.

—The shop of Wm. P. Douglass of South Paris was broken into on Thursday night, but only about eight dollars in money stolen. The entrance was made through the back window.

—The first Parish Church in Portland was organized in 1727, and had but two pastors during the first eighty-two years, and only four during a period of nearly a hundred and forty years, as we learn from the Press.

—Rev. V. Moses, of Cymor, N. Y., a student at the Hartford Theo. Sem., is spending a few weeks in Sherman and vicinity, being engaged for that purpose by the Me. Miss. Society, says the Voice.

—The Press says that on Monday, the Portland police arrested two charcoal venders for measuring coal in baskets that had not been sealed, and were deficient in size. The [illegible] were then [illegible] them and the venders [illegible] to the [illegible] where they had all their coal, and measure it all over in a legal basket.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT—CRIMINAL TERM.

Hon. JOSIAH CRYPTER, presiding.

Charles P. Stetson, Esq. Co. Attorney.

Wednesday, Aug. 17.

State vs. Daniel Kirby and Michael McCormick.

The respondents are indicted for stealing a watch worth $15 from Joseph Sandel at Bangor, in January last. Kirby filed his appeal, being taken on bail, and the other in default. Mr. McCormick was arraigned the present day, pleaded guilty and Mr. Guilford and McCormick were sentenced.

Mr. Guilford for defence.

Sentence Concerning Drunkenness.

Indictment for the crime of polygamy. The [illegible] set up, pretended that [illegible] had been informed that [illegible] had been divorced from him, and believing that he [illegible] and was free to [illegible] married. Upon this statement the Court ruled that the respondent had not used sufficient diligence in ascertaining the facts in relation to a divorce, and that she was not wholly exempt from guilt, and under the circumstances of mitigation would find [illegible] by their Court, which was paid and the respondent discharged.

D. Sanborn for defence.

State vs. James Harrington. Charles Baker, Sargeant and Daniel Curran.

Assault upon Jane Clarke Baker. Harrington and Savage were tried and found guilty.

Peters for defence.

Charles W. Overhold having plead guilty to an indictment for a burglarious entry into a store with intent to commit larceny thereon, was sentenced to two years in State prison. There were no other indictments against him for burglary.

BANGOR POLICE COURT

BEFORE JUDGE CLARK.

Wednesday, Aug. 17. Philip G. Pendleton for an assault upon William Bragdon, was fined $50 and costs.

Elbridge Giles, for stealing a horse of John F. Gregg, was ordered to furnish $500 bail for his appearance at the next term of the S. J. Court, but the bail not forthcoming, he was committed.

THE FENIANS. At a meeting of the Irish Nationalists held in New York Tuesday night, a resolution was passed requesting John Mitchell, Charles O'Connor, Richard O. Gorman, William E. Robinson, Charles P. Daley, Michel Phelan, and others, to act as a Directory for the government of Irish affairs, and the direction of Irish funds in America, in case the complications arising out of the present European war should compel Irishmen in every clime to unite in striking a blow for their mother-land.

Mild, certain, safe, efficient. It is far the best Cathartic remedy yet discovered, and as such proves of immense importance all the world over, without causing injury to any of them. The most complete success has long attended its use in many localities, and it is now offered to the general public with the conviction that it can never fail to accomplish all that is claimed for it. It produces little or no pain; leaves the organs fresh from irritation, and never gives a taste or odor to the nervous system. In all diseases of the skin, blood, stomach, bowels, liver, kidneys,—of children, and in many difficulties peculiar to women, it is the prompt, reliable and certain cure. The best physicians recommend and prescribe it, and no person who once uses this, will voluntarily return to the use of any other cathartic.

THE Central Railroad, of Iowa,

235 MILES IN LENGTH.

NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

This Company are, now pushing their work forward with great rapidity, and the entire line necessary to connect St. Louis and St. Paul is graded and under contract to be finished this season. The fact that this enterprise has been undertaken by a combination of leading bankers and railroad capitalists of well known wealth, experience, and ability, insures its early completion and future success.

The road runs through the richest and most thickly settled portion of Iowa, and is built in the interests of the great Northern system of roads which centre at St. Paul. The of the Company pay 7 per cent. Gold Interest, free of Government tax, and are issued for the very small amount of $16,000 per mile. For the present, the small portion are offered at 96 and accrued interest. The attention of investors is invited to the fact that the road is now nearly finished, and that the Security is therefore entitled to a high rank.

One heart, ever faithful,
Loving e'er with life,
Fighting all the battles
In the earthly strife,
Shielding from all evil,
Keeping safe from harm,
Answering love's glances
With a love as warm.

One loved face turned homeward
In the evening twilight dim,
And a fond one ever watching
At the window there for him,
One loved voice to cheer me
In all life's woes and fears;
One dear hand to guide me
Through all the future years.

MY WIFE'S TEA-SET.

"The Van Towzles have a silver tea-set, and they are no better off than we are," said my wife.

"Very true, my dear," I replied; "but I don't see that we need run in debt, because the Van Towzles do."

"Do you know that they did run in debt for it?" asked she.

"Well no not for that identical tea-set, but—"

"Then you ought not to say so," interrupted she.

"But as I was going to observe, I do know that Van Towzle is living beyond his means and that he cannot go on so forever. When we set up housekeeping, we adopted the pay-as-you-go system, and I still think it a good one, don't you?"

"I wasn't asking you to run in debt," said my wife, but not in her usual gracious manner. In fact it was a manner which a less partial critic than her husband might have stigmatized as waspish. I took no note of it; however, but went on to remark—

"There is another thing to be considered in our case; we have children, the Van Towzles have not."

"I hope you are not going to complain of the poor dear children," exclaimed my wife. "It wasn't their fault that they were born."

"Nor anybody's else that I know of," said I. "I'm sure I don't know where you'll find better children," continued she.

"I had no idea of trying," said I, "I merely intended to say that the future of our children depends upon us, while if the Van Towzles come to grief, as they surely will, unless they change their tactics, there is nobody to suffer but themselves."

"As if I hadn't the children's interest as much at heart as you have!" remarked she.

"Did I say anything to the contrary?" asked I.

"You insinuated it, which is worse. Well, it may be that I am a very poor wife and mother; perhaps you might have found somebody who would have suited you better, but it's too late to think of that now." (Plaintively, and with a sigh.)

"Bless me! how you do run on. I assure you I'd rather have my little Doty than any dozen women in the United States." (And not being a Mormon Elder, of course I spoke the truth.)

This pacified my wife, for there is nothing like a little judicious flattery in dealing with woman-kind, and after some tender passages consequent upon our reconciliation, I retreated to my office with a comparatively light heart.

And yet I knew that this was only a truce, not a permanent peace. That tea-set had haunted my wife ever since the waning of the honey-moon—an astronomical phenomenon which occurred about the usual period after marriage. Time and again we had gone over essentially the same arguments concerning it, and it was probable we should go over them many times more, for I determined to hold my ground till our circumstances and silver tea-sets should be compatible, while, in tenacity, my better half was a second Gen. Grant.

Doty's love for the pomps and vanities of a wicked world, must have been born in her, since there had been nothing in her life at home to foster it. I never had a nicer cup of tea anywhere than at the house of my mother-in-law, but it was always poured from a tea-pot of tin or earthern-ware. Indeed I don't believe Mother Ogden is the owner of a particle of silver, excepting her wedding spoons. The house, too, is grey with age, and the furniture, if sold at auction, would scarcely bring enough to pay the auctioneer. The carpets are laid best side out one winter, and turned over next, and I do not remember any other room-paper than that which now covers the walls. Yet there is such harmony throughout, that I suppose not one person in a hundred ever notices these details, and all who partake of Mother Ogden's hospitality, come away exclaiming—"What a delightful place to visit."

When I mention these things to Doty, she says, "O, they're old-fashioned people."

I reply, "Very true, and therefore their old-fashioned surroundings are in keeping, which is charming and as it should be."

"Precisely," says she, thinking she has me now, "and you and I are not old-fashioned things."

"No, certainly not;" said I, "we only want such articles as shall be consistent with our station in life, and in harmony with each other."

At this point she usually hears the baby crying, or the pot boiling over, or the cat in the cupboard, and is obliged to leave the room suddenly.

Doty and I began life in a very humble way, as became a couple whose only capital consisted in love, youth, health, and industrious habits. We rented one of those French-roofed cottages in the suburbs of Sedalsylvania, so often pointed out for their picturesqueness by travellers on the Erie railroad. It had four rooms on the ground floor, and four on the second, with a hall running through the centre. As it was not quite finished when we engaged it, we were allowed to select paper to match our carpets; and our furniture, although not expensive, was pretty and appropriate. What with these, and the roots and herbs which my wife disposed in pots and hanging baskets about the parlor, and the stuffed birds roosting over the picture frames, and the ivy creeping over the curtains, I thought our small abode had an air of elegance sometimes lacking in far more pretentious dwellings.

The only thing my wife found fault with, was the open common at the back of the house, where cows and geese were wont to stray at large. "Never mind," said I, "when I get rich, it shall be made a park, and instead of vulgar cows and geese, we will have deer and swans."

"When you get rich, we will live up town in a brown-stone front," said she.

Neither the brown stone front nor the park seemed to us a very remote possibility at that time, for my business was constantly increasing, and we had always intended our style of living should keep pace with our means.

There were some contingencies, however, which in our inexperience we overlooked altogether. For instance, although the birth of our son, Joel, was not an entire surprise to us, we had not reckoned upon his being seized with whooping cough at the age of three months. We could not foresee that it would last through the winter, thereby necessitating an additional hand-maid in the kitchen, nor that said hand-maid should prove a more relentless autocrat than the Czar of Russia, causing us all to rejoice or tremble according as she smiled or frowned. We could not know that she would feed her relations from our buttery, or drink the cooking-wine, or break the knobs off the china covers, or wipe the dishes on our best napkins, or a great many other things which she did do—in short we could not know that when I took that woman from the Intelligence Office, I caught a Tartar!

In consequence of the winter's campaign, my wife was so broken in health, that she was ordered to pass the summer at the seaside. Of course, she would derive but little benefit from the change if burdened with the care of the child, who was so fractious, with his teeth, so I hired a nurse to accompany her. I remained behind to attend to business, and as our rent would go on all the same, whether the house was open or shut, I hired in it and hired a house-keeper—vice the Autocrat, discharged.

I paid weekly visits to my wife, and my housekeeper, as I afterwards learned, improved the time of my absence to hold levees in my parlor, far exceeding in magnificence anything of the kind Doty and I had ever attempted.

My wife returned in the fall much improved in health, and the winter passed away without the occurrence of any extraordinary event. In the spring Daisy was born, and Joel took that opportunity to have the measles. I found that walking the room with him nights, unfitted me for looking up law-cases during the day, but if I laid him down, or consigned him to the arms of another, he would bellow till he had thrown his mother into a fever, and if that did not prove effectual, he would hold his breath and turn purple until I feared he would die of strangulation. Of course he came off victorious, and at last I gave up the contest altogether. As a reward for my forbearance, he became so fond of me, that he insisted on sharing my bed all summer.

The next fall, he and Daisy both had chicken-pox, scarlet fever, and croup, interspersed with colds more or less severe, and they kept it up pretty much in the same way till Tommy was born. By that time we knew what to expect.

Joel is now a fine, sturdy boy, and I am as proud of him as any father of his first-born son, and yet I must say that he is hard on shoes! I think also that his facility for getting hung by his clothing on branches of trees and jagged fences, is something remarkable.

and I hope that boys in general do not come home with their best hats full of polly wogs, or use their spelling-books for kite-tails.

It was owing to unforeseen events like these, but which, after all, happened naturally enough, that we still occupied the cottage, that the park and the brown stone-front had receded in the distance, and that I had never been able to indulge my wife in a silver tea-set.

At last I had the good fortune—for so it seemed to me then, to be employed on the famous Ruggles Flowing Co. which had been pending for years, and with which nearly every lawyer in the county had at some time been connected. I won it, and the gratitude of Mr. Ruggles knew no bounds. He not only paid my fee, which was the largest I had the face to charge, and larger than I had ever charged before in any case, but he pressed upon me a liberal gratuity besides. I had now a chance to set me square with the world, for in spite of my prudent resolutions, I had run in debt a little—and a surplus remaining. My first thought, I blush to say, was of a [illegible] law-books which I long been wanting, "but no," said I to myself, "Hazle is glad to have me—a good fellow—[illegible]. Doty shall have the tea-set."

So on my way home I stopped into "Hall's & White's," and purchased a plain but handsome set, which I [illegible] to be marked and sent to me on Christmas eve.

[illegible] with these [illegible] unsuspecting that they would not [illegible], and in fact nothing could have been more opportune, for [illegible].

SPEER'S SAMBUCI.

Catawaba Port Grape & P. J. Sherry Wine

[illegible]

Every family, at this season, should use

SPEER'S SAMBUCI WINE,

celebrated in Spain and Portugal for its beneficial qualities; highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals and by the first families in Europe and America. Excellent for weak and debilitated persons, the aged and infirm, improving the appetite and benefitting the ladies and children.

As a Diuretic,

It imparts a healthy action to the Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic affections. Also Speer's Port Grape Wine.

Is pure juice of the Oporto Grape, recommended by Physicians as possessing medical properties superior to California or Imported Wines.

☞ None genuine unless the signature of "ALFRED SPEER, Passaic, N. J.," is over the cork of each bottle.

ADDRESS

NERVOUS

DEBILITATED,

Whose sufferings have been protracted from hidden causes, and whose cases require prompt treatment to render existence desirable: If you are suffering, or have suffered, from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urinary organs, or your kidneys frequently get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky or flocky, or is it ropy on settling? or does a thick skum rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting, or rushes of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling on this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the luster of your eye as brilliant? The bloom on your cheek as bright? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits of melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you restless nights? Your back weak, your knees weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver-complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering, successful business men are always those whose generative organs are in perfect health? You never hear of such men being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business, they never become sad and discouraged, they are always polite and pleasant in the company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other meanness about them. I do not mean those who keep the organs inflated by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitutions, but also those they do business with or for.

How many men, from badly cured diseases, from the effects of self-abuse and excesses, have brought that state of weakness in those organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—Idiocy, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a Diuretic.

HELMBOLD'S

FLUID EXTRACT

BUCHU

Is the GREAT DIURETIC, and is a certain cure for all diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel, Dropsy, Organic Weakness, Female Complaint, General Debility, and all diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing.

If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the health and happiness, and that of Posterity, depends upon a prompt use of a reliable remedy.

Helmbold's Extract Buchu,

Established upwards of 19 years.

OFFICIAL.

LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES

Passed at the Second Session of the Forty-first Congress.

[PUBLIC—No. 146.]

AN ACT to revise, consolidate, and amend the statutes relating to patents and copyrights.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That there shall be attached to the Department of the Interior the office, heretofore established, known as the Patent Office, wherein all records, books, models, drawings, specifications, and other papers and things pertaining to patents shall be safely kept and preserved.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the officers and employees of said office shall continue to be one Commissioner of Patents, one Assistant Commissioner, and three examiners-in-chief, to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; one chief clerk, one examiner in charge of interferences, twenty-two principal examiners, twenty-two first-assistant examiners, twenty-two second assistant examiners, one librarian, one machinist, five clerks of class four, six clerks of class three, fifty clerks of class two, forty-five clerks of class one, and one messenger and purchasing clerk, all of whom shall be appointed by the Secretary of the Interior, upon nomination of the Commissioner of Patents.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the Secretary of the Interior may also appoint, upon like nomination, such additional clerks of classes two and one, and of lower grades, copyists of drawings, female copyists, skilled laborers, laborers, and watchmen, as may be from time to time appropriated for by Congress.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the annual salaries of the officers and employees of the Patent Office shall be as follows,

Of the Commissioner of Patents, four thousand five hundred dollars;

Of the Assistant Commissioner, three thousand dollars.

Of the examiners-in-chief, three thousand dollars each.

Of the chief clerk, two thousand five hundred dollars.

Of the examiner in charge of interferences, two thousand five hundred dollars.

Of the principal examiners, two thousand five hundred dollars each.

Of the first assistant examiners, one thousand eight hundred dollars each.

Of the second assistant examiners, one thousand six hundred dollars each.

Of the librarian, one thousand eight hundred dollars.

Of the machinist, one thousand six hundred dollars.

Of the clerks of class four, one thousand eight hundred dollars each.

Of the clerks of class three, one thousand six hundred dollars each.

[illegible]

... to administer oaths, or, when the applicant resides in a foreign country, before any minister, chargé d'affaires, consul, or commercial agent, holding commission under the government of the United States, or before any notary public of the foreign country in which the applicant may be.

SEC. 31. And be it further enacted, That on the filing of any such application and the payment of the duty required by law, the Commissioner shall cause an examination to be made of the alleged new invention or discovery; and if on such examination it shall appear that the claimant is justly entitled to a patent under the law, and that the same is sufficiently useful and important, the Commissioner shall issue a patent therefor.

SEC. 32. And be it further enacted, That all applications for patents shall be completed and prepared for examination within two years after the filing of the petition, and in default thereof, or upon failure of the applicant to prosecute the same within two years after any action thereon, of which notice shall have been given to the applicant, they shall be regarded as abandoned by the parties thereto, unless it be shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that such delay was unavoidable.

SEC. 33. And be it further enacted, That patents may be granted and issued or reissued to the assignee of the inventor or discoverer, the assignment thereof being first entered of record in the Patent Office; but in such case the application for the patent shall be made and the specification sworn to by the inventor or discoverer, and also, if he be living, in case of an application for reissue.

SEC. 34. And be it further enacted, That when any person, having made any new invention or discovery for which a patent might have been granted, dies before a patent is granted, the right of applying for and obtaining the patent shall devolve on his executor or administrator, in trust for the heirs at law of the deceased, in case he shall have died intestate, or if he shall have left a will, disposing of the same, then in trust for his devisees, in as full manner and on the same terms and conditions as the same might have been claimed or enjoyed by him in his lifetime, and when the application shall be made by such legal representatives, the oath or affirmation required to be made shall be so varied in form that it can be made by them.

SEC. 35. And be it further enacted, That any person who has an interest in an invention or discovery, whether as inventor, discoverer, or assignee, for which a patent was ordered to issue upon the payment of the final fee, but who has failed to make payment thereof within six months from the time at which it was passed and allowed, and notice thereof was sent to the applicant or his agent, shall have a right to make an application for a patent for such invention or discovery the same as in the case of an original application: Provided, That the second application be made within two years after the allowance of the original application. But no person shall be held responsible in damages for the manufacture or use of any article or thing for which a patent, as aforesaid, was ordered to issue, prior to the issue thereof: And provided further, That when an application for a patent has been rejected or withdrawn, prior to the passage of this act, the applicant shall have six months from the date of such passage to renew his application [illegible].

... part thereof, as the facts in the case may appear. And such adjudication, if it be in favor of the right of the applicant, shall authorize the Commissioner to issue such patent, on the applicant filing in the Patent Office a copy of the adjudication, and otherwise complying with the requisitions of law. And in all cases where there is no opposing party a copy of the bill shall be served on the Commissioner, and all the expenses of the proceeding shall be paid by the applicant, whether the final decision is in his favor or not.

SEC. 53. And be it further enacted, That whenever any patent is inoperative or invalid, by reason of a defective or insufficient specification, or by reason of the patentee claiming as his own invention or discovery more than he had a right to claim as new, if the error has arisen by inadvertence, accident, or mistake, and without any fraudulent or deceptive intention, the Commissioner shall, on the surrender of such patent and payment of the duty required by law, cause a new patent for the same invention, and in accordance with the corrected specification, to be issued to the patentee, or, in the case of his death or assignment of the whole or any undivided part of the original patent, to his executors, administrators, or assigns, for the unexpired part of the term of the original patent, the surrender of which shall take effect upon the issue of the amended patent; and the Commissioner may, in his discretion, cause several patents to be issued for distinct and separate parts of the thing patented, upon demand of the applicant, and upon payment of the required fee for a reissue for each of such reissued letters-patent. And the specifications and claim in every such case shall be subject to revision and restriction in the same manner as original applications are. And the patent so reissued, together with the corrected specification, shall have the effect and operation in law, on the trial of all actions for causes thereafter arising, as though the same had been originally filed in such corrected form; but no new matter shall be introduced into the specification, nor in case of a machine patent shall the model or drawings be amended, except each by the other; but when there is neither model nor drawing, amendments may be made upon proof satisfactory to the Commissioner that such new matter or amendment was a part of the original invention, and was omitted from the specification by inadvertence, accident, or mistake, as aforesaid.

SEC. 54. And be it further enacted, That whenever, through inadvertence, accident, or mistake, and without any fraudulent or deceptive intention, a patentee has claimed more than that of which he was the original or first inventor or discoverer, his patent shall be valid for all that part which is truly and justly his own, provided the same is a material or substantial part of the thing patented; and any such patentee, his heirs or assigns, whether of the whole or any sectional interest therein, may, on payment of the duty required by law, make disclaimer of such parts of the thing patented as he shall not choose to claim or to hold by virtue of the patent or assignment, stating therein the extent of his interest in such patent; said disclaimer shall be in writing, attested by one or more witnesses, and recorded in the Patent Office; and it shall thereafter be considered as part of the original specification to the extent of the interest possessed by the claimant and by those claiming under him [illegible].

Hotel for Sale or Lease.

Elegantly furnished throughout, being the only regular Hotel in a flourishing city of 12000 inhabitants, adjoining the city of Boston. Thirty large rooms, two splendid suits rich gilt papered parlors, large and magnificent bar rooms, Black Walnut Bar, fine pictures, French plate mirrors, marble mantles, gas and water. The finest finished and furnished house of its size in the state, can be filled the year round. The bar alone is a fortune. A new building belonging on the premises could be easily converted into a Lager Beer & Eating Saloon, and the basement of the Hotel into a Barber Shop and Bath rooms, all of which would pay largely. This is the best opening for a good Hotel keeper to be found in the country, and is offered on account of old age and feeble health of the owner. A firm would be taken in part payment.
